MISS NORTH DAKOTA TEEN VOLUNTEER

ABOUT MY JOURNEY

My name is Susie Schug, and I am honored to represent North Dakota at the Miss Teen Volunteer America National Competition in March 2027. This title means more to me than a crown, it's a platform for the passion that's shaped my entire journey.

That journey started in the back corner of my computer science class during sophomore year of high school, where I sat alone as the only girl in the room, wondering if loving robotics and technology meant I didn't belong there. Today, I run the very programs I once needed, reaching over 2,500 kids across North Dakota; I want girls to know they do not have to choose between being smart and being feminine, between being technical and being confident. They can be all of it. Sitting alone at a table does not mean you are less than; sometimes it means you are brave enough to be the first.

WHY YOUR SUPPORT MATTERS

To compete at National and represent North Dakota, I'm raising $7,000 to cover:

- A new competition robot (that will be donated to Williston Robotics after Nationals)
- Travel to events and appearances across North Dakota
- Registration Fees for Nationals
- National competition expenses (including wardrobe & travel)

PARTNER WITH MY MISSION

I invite you to become a sponsor with a gift of $250-$1500, although contributions of any amount make a meaningful impact. Support doesn't have to be monetary. In-kind donations of beauty services, products, and other resources are incredibly valuable and always appreciated. Every contribution, in any form, helps move me closer to this goal.

As a sponsor, you'll receive recognition through social media, my website, podcast, speaking engagements, and opportunities to be recognized as a community partner and ability for appearances throughout my year of service.

Together, we can remove barriers, inspire future innovators, and ensure every student has the opportunity to discover what they're capable of.
